Wednesday
Evening.

Dear Mr Huntingford.

I fear I shall not be able to come to see you tomorrow as I have to go to London in order to sign my passport!

I see no possibility for me to make myself of your kind service to come and see the boys play — as the horses, as much as my own legs, much rather to do better London

and Wimbledon.
So I better bid
you good bye
in this way,
dear Mrs Blunt thoughts
turning to kind
you all remaining
need in health
and strength if we are still allowed to meet in this world.'

Write my kindest regards to Mrs and Miss Huntingford, as also to the Doctor and love to the Children – I am always

Dear Mrs Huntingford

Yours very sincerely
