

April 1876

MACMILLAN'S MAGAZINE,

Tuesday

Lower Sydenham, S.E.

Dear O. f.

I was away from Saturday morning, but found your note last night. The train home is all safe and shall go by Rail tonight. I am working at home to-day & cannot get it to Bedford St. in time.

The performance on Wed. nesday was splendid - I could write for nothing better. But I got very tired ~~too~~ after the first part. and thought the Sanders and Granna an anticlimax.
Next time I shall probably say so it near. England ought to be very grateful to you for enabling her to make acquaintance with so noble a work.

I thank you very much for the memoir about the inaccuracies in the book. I had noted them all before, except that of Oakley's name. There are rather more than 450 a hand: so that for Monday no more will be wanted.

I shall hope to be at the Committee meeting on Saturday

It is very kind of you to ask offer my wife and to wish for her to come. but she does not care for music at all and I could not therefore press her to do a thing that would be nearly a nuisance to her - She takes after Dr Arnold in this, who, if you remember, speaks in one of his letters of 'the music which to some is heavenly, but to me says nothing'.

Adieu, à revoir Samedi.

Yours ever affctly

S. Grove.

[S. Grove]