My dear Mr. Maude

I am so sorry that I wasn't in. I was really out and my secretary
told me when I got back that he was sure I didn't believe it!

And now alas I don't know on the instant name a day for her as I may have to go up to Edinburgh at any moment to my people. I shall know for sure in a day or two.

I do hope that your cold is better. I haven't found your note and I must have been my mistake.

Yours sincerely

Hugh Walpole
